BASKET BALL, PARIS VS. GEORGETOWN TO-MORROW

There will be a basket ball game here between Georgetown College and the local Y. M. C. A. team to-morrow night at 8 o'clock. It is hoped that a good crowd will be present to urge the Paris boys to victory. In the earlier part of the season a very decided defeat was received at the hands of Coach Robt. Hinton's "Tigers" on the Georgetown floor; but that's another story. Will you be one to help confirm this fact by making your presence "felt" in the "Y" Gym? Win or lose, it will be a game worth seeing and one of the best on the local floor this season.

Regardless of former records, Paris has not always had a team that could make even a creditable showing against Kentucky's strongest teams. Those in charge, as well as other friends of the organization, and loyal Parisians, are hoping to secure another point of respect in the eyes of the real teams of the State. We're aiming high; but we hope not rash. Can we not base this statement partly on the State University game?

TWO ADJUDGED INSANE.

Mrs. Horatio N. Wilkins, well-known and highly-respected Paris woman, was tried in Judge McMillan's Court, on a lunacy charge. The jury adjudged her to be of unsound mind, and ordered her committed to the Eastern Kentucky Hospital for the Insane at Lexington.

Mrs. Wilkins is the widow of Horatio N. Wilkins, who will be remembered by the older citizens of Paris as conducting a tin shop and stove store at the corner of Main and Fifth streets, on the site now occupied by the Bourbon-Agricultural Bank & Trust Co.'s building. She was twice married, her children, Charles Ross and Horatio ("Birdie") Wilkins, having died some years ago.

On the same day, a nineteen-year-old colored girl was adjudged insane and was ordered sent to the State Hospital. The two unfortunates were taken to the institution together.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS

Mr. John W. Bell, of Harrison county, purchased through Harris & Speakes, of Paris, the Lloyd Ashurst farm of 244 acres, located on the Paris and Bethlehem pike, near Paris, for $127.50 an acre, or a total of $31,110. The farm contains one of the most substantial farm dwellings in the county, and is well improved in every respect. Mr. Bell will move to his new home when possession is given next March, and will become a resident of the county.

Mr. Thos. F. Brannon, of Lexington, through the Paris Realty Co., of this city, sold a one-story frame cottage on Clifton avenue in the old Fair Grounds Addition to Paris, to Mrs. Welsh, of Second street, for $2,100. Mrs. Welsh will occupy the property as a home.

Mr. Charles Darnell, of Carlisle, has purchased of Mr. Perry Bronaugh, his farm near Hutchison. Mr. Bronaugh recently purchased 200 acres of land near Nicholasville, and will move to that place in March.

Prof. J. M. Scott sold his farm of 240 acres, located on the Jacksonville pike, between Jacksonville and Shaughan, yesterday, to Mr. J. L. Perant. The farm, which is one of the best in the county, is well improved, and nicely located. The price paid was not made public, but is understood to have been a good one. Mr. Perant recently sold his farm on the Bethlehem pike. He will get possession of the Scott farm in March.

SPANISH.

The study of Spanish is becoming increasingly popular in our secondary schools and colleges. Where one student now is interested in the unpopular Greek, a hundred are seeking a knowledge of Spanish. This is well; our business future, especially after the war sets loose English, French and German commercial agents to recover lost connections, lies in Spanish-speaking Latin America—and it will be a period of the keenest competition. The more people in this country who know something of Spanish the better our chances for commercial conquest—and the seeds of a vast and new prosperity may easily be sprouted to the south of us.

FARM CONDITIONS IN BOURBON.

The past week, while not an especially good one for the farmer, proved to be beneficial to the tobacco interests, enabling the growers to get their crops to the local market in good shape. Most of the offerings was of a very fair quality, and the prices realized were entirely satisfactory, as evidenced by the fact that there were no rejections.

The local houses, the Bourbon (Consolidated) and the New Independent, each held five sales, disposing of an aggregate of 967,505 pounds of tobacco, for a total of $168,532.65, an average of $17.42. Speculators have been going through the county, trying to buy up the crops, but the growers seem to prefer taking their chances on the local open markets.

Hemp breaking has begun, and a few crops have been sold at good prices, but others are holding the staple back for an advance. It is not likely that the hemp in this county will sell at the 1916 price, which was $16 per hundred, but the growers believe that it will reach as high as $15.00.

Eggs are still climbing heavenward, selling at some places for fifty cents per dozen. The rise has been steady for a month or more and the poultry men in many places are holding the eggs for another rise.

The livestock markets continue to report light sales. The mule market seems to be fairly active, and cattle buyers are quietly procuring stock for feeders. This section is constantly shipping to the Cincinnati markets. Stock feeding fell off during the week on account of the mild weather which makes it possible for the animals to make use of the pastures to a large extent. Unless the weather becomes decidedly more severe than it has been thus far cheap and profitable gains will be the rule this winter.

A WALKING SALOON.

Chief of Police Link last night arrested "Bill" Smith, a habitual criminal of Cynthiana. Smith is wanted in Harrison on various charges, he having broken jail at that place on several occasions. When arrested Smith was on his way to Carlisle and had on him 20 quarts of whiskey and other "wet" goods.

ARM BADLY SPRAINED.

Mrs. Wm. Myall fell on the icy pavement in front of the court house yesterday afternoon and received a badly sprained right arm from the fall. She was removed to her home where Dr. Williams attended her.

COL. W. F. CODY.

Col. W. F. Cody, known the world over as "Buffalo Bill," noted frontiersman, trapper, scout, guide and showman, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Mary Cody Decker, in Denver, Colorado, where he had been seriously ill for several weeks from uraemic poisoning. Col. Cody was born Feb. 26, 1847, in Scott county, Iowa. He was a descendant of an old Scotch family. When "Buffalo Bill" was five years old his parents moved to Leavenworth, Kansas. At the age of ten he found himself at the head of the family, due to the death of his father, who was killed in an encounter growing out of a dispute over the slave question. Young Cody became a courier, then by various stages of progression became guide, scout, trapper and soldier, making himself one of the most picturesque figures in America. He met death as he met life, squarely and without flinching. The most romantic figure left over from the days of thrilling Indian fights and clashes with white renegades—a figure at once the despair and envy of every red-blooded boy in America—a remnant of the organization that once roamed the plains of the West—disappeared with the death of "Buffalo Bill."

The body will lie in state in the State Capitol at Denver until Sunday when the funeral services and interment will take place.

NO RUBBER IN THESE TIRES.

Several substitutes for rubber are being used in Germany in the manufacture of bicycle and light automobile tires. Steel wire, leather, wood and prepared canvas have been resorted to.

The steel wire tire was the first to appear. It is three-sixteenths of an inch thick and made up into a very close coil, and two ends being welded to give it the proper shape, its greatest fault is that it cuts the pavement and is noisy.

Some wooden tires are made of a single piece of wood and others are sectional. One is composed of 17 parts. The single piece of wood is covered with a strip of leather, and between the under surface and the rim are several steel springs which give elasticity. In addition, on bicycles, springs are attached to the front and rear forks.

The canvas tires are filled with wood and other substances.

MINIATURE SHIPS FOR NAVAL TRAINING.

The naval militia of New York State has eight miniature battleships to train officers and recruits in the management of naval equipment. They are also shown in the recruiting offices as a means of attracting men. One of them has been in use for three weeks in connection with offices in New York City. Each ship is mounted on a motor truck and is 26 feet long by 5 feet wide. Its turrets stand 8 feet above the deck, and are modelled after the U. S. S. Connecticut. Men concealed in the interior operate the motors and also the signal system, including the searchlights, with which the vessel is as fully equipped as a boat designed for actual service.

MATRIMONIAL.

TEVIS—FAULCONER.

The marriage of Miss Eleanor Tevis and Mr. E. P. Faulconer, Wednesday was one of the brilliant social events of the New Year at Danville. The bride is a handsome and attractive young woman who has frequently been a guest of Paris friends. Miss Marie Talbot, of Paris, attended the wedding.

SCHWARTZ—McLAUGHLIN.

That romance is not dead and that love will find its way eventually was demonstrated in this city Wednesday morning when Miss Nellie Schwartz, of Paris, became the bride of Mr. Thos. McLaughlin, of Lexington, and a former resident of Paris. Mr. McLaughlin and Miss Schwartz had been lovers for many years and their marriage was the culmination of an acquaintance that began in their childhood in Paris.

The marriage took place at the residence of the officiating minister, Rev. Father Eugene DeBruyn, pastor of the Church of the Annunciation in this city, in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives of the bride and groom. After the ceremony the happy couple left for a short wedding journey to New Orleans and the South, and upon their return will make their home in Paris temporarily, but plan to purchase a permanent home in Lexington, where they will reside in the future.

The bride is the adopted daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schwartz, of Paris, in whose home she has spent the larger part of her life. She is a young woman of personal attractiveness and of unusual accomplishments. She was reared as tenderly as Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz could have raised one of their own children, and she lovingly repaid all their love and tender care by a lifetime of devotion.

Mr. McLaughlin is a son of Mrs. Margaret McLaughlin, of Lexington, who was a native of Paris, and is a cousin of Murray, James and William Higgins, of this city. Mrs. McLaughlin being a sister of Mrs. Thomas A. Higgins. He has been Deputy Sheriff of Fayette county for the past three years and for six years previous was in the office of the City Treasurer of Lexington under several administrations. He enjoys a deserved popularity among a wide circle of friends and is a gentleman of many admirable qualities.

PENITENTIARY FIRE CAUSES LOSS OF TWO LIVES

FRANKFORT, KY., Jan. 11.—Two dead and forty-five injured, overcome with heat or prostrated by the shock, in the prison hospital, are the toll of a fire, (originating from defective electric wiring,) which gutted Cell House A, the colored section of the Reformatory, Monday night. All are negroes. The dead are Dave Fife, of Lexington, and Bill Jones, of Owingsville, the latter a life term and a trusty at the shoe factory. Will Jones, of Winchester, is in a serious condition. Both his legs are horribly burned. Physicians believe the others will recover.

The men were rescued from the cell house after they had spent over an hour in the roasting heat and deadly smoke, locked in their cells with the flames licking down at them and creeping toward them in plain sight, the horror of their position accentuated by crashing timbers from the roof and walls around the cells, which are piled tier on tier, four around the center, of the long narrow building.

They were gotten out at the risk of the lives of fellow prisoners and guards, who were compelled to dig a hole through the wall at the rear of the annex, extending out from the cell house, and use ladders and ropes to reach the imprisoned men and let them down, after climbing along planks pushed before them on the girders.

Many of them were taken out unconscious and restored by Coroner LeCompte's lungmotor in the hospital, where Frankfort physicians assisted Dr. Caywood, the prison physician, in attending the rescued men as fast as they could be taken in.

All the other 750 prisoners in that cell house were let out in safety, but the fire and smoke drove back the guards and prisoners who were assisting them in unlocking the cells before Walks 11 and 12, the upper tiers, were reached, and nothing could be done for their relief until the fire was under control.

There are 1,478 prisoners in the Frankfort prison and about 800 were in Cell House A.

A HOLD-UP.

The Lawrenceburg News says, regarding the newsprint situation: "The News is of 'the same opinion still' that the high cost of print paper, paid by the country plants, is a straight-out hold up. When or how the little fellows expect to get relief is still an unsolved problem. The conscienceless struggle after the 'almighty dollar' is a wonderful incentive to boost high prices and then lay it at the threshold of the European war."
